Description

Exquisite French Ormolu-Mounted Kingwood Parquetry and Marquetry Occasional Table by Joseph-Emmanuel Zwiener, Late 19th Century. A French occasional table, a masterpiece crafted by the renowned artisan Joseph-Emmanuel Zwiener during the late 19th century. This captivating piece showcases the epitome of French craftsmanship, featuring luxurious Kingwood parquetry and intricate marquetry work, adorned with ornate ormolu mounts throughout. At the heart of this extraordinary table lies a circular sun-burst veneered top, exquisitely detailed with a moulded rim that accentuates its timeless beauty. The serpentine frieze, adorned with delicate foliate-cast ormolu frames, adds a touch of opulence to the design, while each side is graced with military trophies, including flags and helmets, evoking a sense of grandeur and nobility. Supported by elegant cabriole legs, enriched with pierced foliate clasps, this table exudes grace and sophistication from every angle. The legs terminate in scrolled sabots, further enhancing the allure of this exceptional piece and ensuring its stability and longevity for generations to come. This French ormolu-mounted Kingwood parquetry and marquetry...
