This George III satinwood card table dates from the end of the 18th century and conforms to what we always refer to as the Sheraton Period as it is based on the designs made popular by Thomas Sheraton. Thomas Sheraton (1751 – 22 October 1806) was a furniture designer, one of the "big three" English furniture makers of the 18th century, along with Thomas Chippendale and George Hepplewhite. Sheraton gave his name to a style of furniture characterized by a feminine refinement of late Georgian styles and became the most powerful source of inspiration behind the furniture of the late 18th century. Note: This is one of three Satinwood Pieces that we have been lucky enough to have secured from a single collection which Harvey's helped to assemble for a client some 4...
