Description

A pair of carved oak angels, circa 1700, with a lovely warm patina and faint traces of polychrome to the face and gilding to the body. The angels are both kneeling on billowing clouds, one angel with hands joined in prayer, the other with hands crossed across the chest, gazing upwards. Both are mounted onto later rectangular matching oak bases. Dimensions are 71cm high, 30cm in width (at widest point). Provenance: Pescheteau Badin, Paris, 12th December 2007, Lot 156.
