Description

Wonderful Victorian silver plated 16 piece fish cutlery set for 6 person that includes 4 serving pieces. The inclusion of 4 servers is very unusual, as usually only 2 serving pieces are provided. The handles are fashioned in lavish Queens' pattern and the blades and serving pieces are bright-cut in ornate Art Nouveau style with scrolls, flowers, foliage and wriggle work borders. The set comes in its original oak canteen with red velvet interior and vacant brass shield cartouche to the lid for personalised engraving. A truly sumptuous set and a striking example of Victorian craftsmanship and opulence! The Queen's Pattern (also known as Rosette) was originally created in the 1820's by John and Henry Lias of London. They were famous for their opulent designs, which often included Rococo decoration, shells and foliate scrolls. Queens has similarities in shape to the King's pattern, but with more ornate decoration and an anthemion motif to the reverse of the bowls, as well as honeysuckle and shells to handles. The pattern was created on the request of George IV for his consort, Queen Caroline of Brunswick. Maker: John Round & Son Origin: Sheffield, England Date: c. 1870's ...
