Description

This beautifully made Georgian style solid silver stilton scoop is a copy of one of the most complicated and desirable designs for a stilton scoop available. It has a fine hand turned hardwood handle finished with a shaped and stepped ferrule which is attached to the stem and has a raised sliding mechanism which is used to push the cheese off the trowel shaped end making this tool a pleasure to use and very attractive to the eye. This fine piece of silver is boldly hallmarked, Sheffield 1972. Height 5cm x width 30cm x depth 3cm
