

SA1050512

Chinese carving made from rare chicken-blood stone

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA1050512*Date of manufacture: 1910

Description

Chicken-Blood Stone, also known as “Ji Xue Shi” in Chinese, is a unique and highly prized gemstone that holds cultural and aesthetic significance, particularly in Chinese culture. It is renowned for its vivid red and maroon hues, which are reminiscent of the color of fresh chicken blood, hence its name. This gemstone is revered for its intricate patterns and striking colors, making it a popular choice for both ornamental and spiritual purposes. Weight 1671 grams height 15.5 cm, width 25.5 cm, thickness 3.5 cm Please carefully regard all photos. The item will be shipped with full tracking and insurance. Delivery is included in the price

Seller Details

Gillers Antiques Ltd

Buckland House Buntingford Hertfordshire SG9 OPY United Kingdom

Tel: 07738 009924

International Tel: +44 7738 009924

