Description

A Unique Regency period Mahogany Chest on Stand circa 1811-1820. This extraordinary chest captures the grandeur of the Neoclassical/ Egyptian Revival period, seamlessly incorporating exquisite Grecian and Egyptian design elements with Grecian ebony inlay designs to the solid mahogany slab front drawers. Notice the the lack of mouldings or beading to the drawers an unusual design feature for regency furniture enhancing the architectural clean lines of the chest. Meticulously constructed from the finest Caribbean mahogany throughout without any secondary woods to be found. The chest is a testament to the superior craftsmanship of the maker. Every detail has been carefully considered, from the mahogany drawer linings, mahogany back boards, ensuring its durability and longevity for generations to come. The chest is adorned with flanking columns, adding a touch of architectural elegance. The stand itself boasts a further long drawer. The fluted and reeded splayed legs gracefully descend, culminating in hairy bronze paw feet reminiscent of ancient Egyptian statuary. This chest on stand is truly one-of-a-kind, designed and made in England by a master craftsman of the ...
