Description

This charming late 19th-century French School oil painting depicts a forest view with deer. Stylistically, it fits with the approach taken by the Barbizon school of artists who were active between 1830-1870. These were some of the first to truly embrace painting outdoors and they're seen as a precursor to the French impressionists. Many of their works were created in the forest of Fontainebleau near the village of Barbizon. The composition is particularly reminiscent of those by Jean-Baptiste-Camille Corot (1796-1875), so perhaps the artist was a follower. Signed illegibly in the lower left and held within a gilt frame. Medium: Oil on canvas Overall size: 16" x 12½" / 41cm x 32cm Year of creation: c. 1880 Labels & Inscriptions: Exhibition label on reverse. Provenance: Private collection, France / Private collection, England. Condition: Assessed and approved by our conservator. One old patch on the reverse.
