Description

Charming Edwardian hardwood trinket box with chip carved circular design. The hinged lid lifts to reveal beautifully clean interior perfect for storing trinkets. This box is in excellent condition with incredible rich colouring with amazing patina. The perfect addition to any table top. Chip carving is a decorative style of wood carving that involves incising a pattern or design directly into the wood. The name chip carving comes from the technique employed. This is removing a series of precise and regular chips of wood to form an engraved design that is lower than the surface of the wood.
