Description

An impressive 19th century carved oak tiered side table or buffet which would work beautifully as anything from a hall table to a bookcase, or even a bar! The carved top sits above two ornately carved drawers all above two lower tiers united by chunky barley twist supports. Very good condition, structurally all sound with some attractive aged surface wear and excellent colour. There are a couple of old, aged splits to the lower tiers but these have been professionally restored and the piece is now all solid. English, late 19th century. English, circa 1880. H: 100 W: 104 D: 47 cm
