Description

A striking vintage silver and guilloché enamel brooch in the form of a lily. This fabulous brooch is wonderfully styled and is coloured with the most vibrant light blue guilloché enamel with silver around the edges. On the back is a good fastening pin and next to this the designers mark for Knut A Rasmussen, plus marks stating '925 S, Norway sterling'. Rasmussen produced his pieces in Oslo and died in the 1950's. He produced very unusual modernist jewellery and was very much a forerunner in style: his jewellery is admired and very collectable. Great for a collector of Norwegian jewellery. Unusual brooch and in very good condition, other than some very slight wear to the gilding on the reverse. Period: circa 1940's.
