Description

A 16th Century walnut plank coffin. The front plank has applied mouldings and a double lozenge either side of a pierced gothic tracery panel. There are four key holes and an iron lock plate. The sides both have applied mouldings and double lozenge mouldings. The single plank top is attached by a pair of 17th Century strap hinges, the original iron wires long perished. There is a repeating stamped motif running around the top edge on the inside, possibly Swiss. Please visit our website for further images.
