Description

This is a superb quality French, Charles X mahogany commode chest, in splendid condition with a wonderful rich colour, dating from around 1830. The substantial chest has beautiful decorative gilt bronze handles and escutcheons which have wonderful detail. The upper frieze drawer has a working lock and key. The three deep drawers beneath run freely in the cabinet and give a substantial storage capacity. This chest has a rare feature in that there is a secret drawer in the base of the piece that you would not realise was there. The flame mahogany is excellent throughout with a fabulous decorative grain and lovely rich colour and patina and the figured marble top is in beautiful clean condition. A most handsome early French piece of the very best quality. We also have another very similar example currently listed that make's for a very near pair of superb chests should you require two. (shown in the last photo.) This listing is for one chest only This chest measures 96 cms high 125 wide by 55 deep. UK delivery can be arranged with our trusted furniture courier and costs £65 plus vat to most destinations.
