Description

Wonderful Old Antique Georgian Period English Copper Jug with Rolled Rim and Flared Base. Stunning patina to the mid section of the jug. Very decorative on its own and would be perfect for displaying dried flowers. Condition: Excellent antique condition for age. One side has a tiny section of copper missing to the rolled rim near the spout (minor and the rest of the rim is secure). Tiny historic shallow dimples to the mid section from use. Nothing ugly or recent in terms of dents that spoil the look, just 2 small dents to the handle. No holes but does leak through the pressed seam to the base. Unpolished. Measurements (approx): Height of body: 15.5cm Height to top of the handle: 16.25cm Inner diameter of neck: 7.5cm Diameter of base: 10cm Capacity approx: 2 pints (a quarter of a gallon) Weight: 448g

Internal Ref: 1215
