Description

An attractive antique gold crescent brooch set with 13 beautiful shimmering blue stones in a range of tones. Twelve of the blues are pastes and one tests as a genuine sapphire, all accented with tiny natural diamond chips and set above a decorative pierced gallery in a pleasing circular shape. The piece is nicely hallmarked for nine-carat gold, Chester, 1911, and is a gently rosy colour. The brooch is in very good antique condition and fastens with a typical C clasp and a removable safety chain for additional security. One of the tiny diamond chips is vacant but you have to look very hard to see that. Size: Approximately 3 x 3cm. Weight: 4.9g. FREE INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING!
