Description

This Tekke rug has some very desirable features. The palette is unusually light and harmonious. The size is also quite rare, larger and wider than is typical of the so-called Tekke wedding rugs. This has allowed the weaver the luxury of spacing the major and minor guls in a generous way. The rug feels light and uncluttered, very easy on the eye. Wool quality and weave are fine and velvety. Good natural dyes. An additional bonus is that it has survived in remarkably good condition. Full pile with original ends and selvages intact. Professionally cleaned. This is a very pleasing and useful rug that could be used in many types of interior spaces.
