Description

A double ended Victorian ruby glass scent bottle. One end unscrews with a cork stopper and one end is a push button mechanism which is in full working order. Both ends are beautifully engraved with no dents. There are no marks, but this is not uncommon on these types of scent bottles. One end was most likely for smelling salts, there is actually some cotton wool in one end. Good heavy glass faceted body. Condition is commensurate with use and age. L 12 cm W/D 3 cm
