Description

A Pretty Pair of Antique Brass and Cut Glass Candelabra. Of tree form in solid brass adorned with cut glass and amethyst drops. The central column formed of turned urn shaped sections with brass rod arms. Decorated with varying sized cut glass drops and florets. The turned candle holders with flower shaped drip trays are supported on attractive scroll work arms. Standing on a circular stepped base. A very smart and decorative pair of candelabra. They have been gently cleaned and polished and are both complete. At some stage they were either electrified or being prepared to take electric as they have holes for flex to the base and drip trays below the nozzles. So if wished, these can quite easily be converted to lamps.
