Description

An attractive Regency Revival period bookcase in very smart original condition dating from around 1920. The elegant bookcase cabinet is constructed in satinwood which has a good colour and nice antique patina and is attractively detailed with hand painted floral garlands to the doors which have circular panels of beautiful contrasting flame veneers. There are two useful drawers above the cabinet and astragal glazed doors to the bookcase section. The cornice above is further hand painted with a floral bouquet centrally. Both pairs of doors have their original working locks and keys and the cabinet is raised on splayed bracket feet. The cabinet has line inlay and contrasting veneer detail throughout giving it a very appealing appearance. With three adjustable shelves to the bookcase and a central shelf to the cabinet this is a very useful piece with nice proportions, measuring 214 cms high 93 cms wide by 34 cms deep. UK insured delivery can be arranged with our trusted furniture and costs £70 plus vat to most destinations.
