Description

Antique library table by Williams and Gibton of Dublin, unusually with pollard oak surface over a very fine end support base. Being made by probably the best maker in Ireland at the time, this is a very fine quality table indeed. It is a useful shape to sit at and use a desk as intended. It would also make a very fine sofa table to display family photos, flowers, &c. As normal, this table is a much finer piece than these photographs can convey and it really is one of the best. Irish circa 1830 Stamped with makers mark "Williams & Gibton 27051" 75cm high 135cm wide 65cm deep TF053
