Description

Large 19th century pine housekeepers cupboard. The top with two doors opening to shelved interiors, the bottom with three sliding doors, again, with shelved interiors, raised on plinth base. This substantial cupboard has had some old repairs, a few old (long dead) worm holes, marks, wear etc, all the idiosyncrasies one would expect from a piece of such age in everyday use but overall this wonderfully versatile cupboard is in good sound condition, it is very solidly constructed and with its copious storage space, it is functional yet attractive piece, full of character.
