Description

Here is a super large Art Deco two-tone mirror in peach and clear glass. The rectangular mirror features two side panels in peach glass with scalloped edges and small convex circles which capture the whole room in miniature! The clear glass interior is divided by bevelled grooves into nine squares - all the decoration is on the underside of the mirror glass, so when you touch the surface, the whole mirror is three smooth piece of glass (2 peach side columns and the central rectangle). It's a great large size measuring 92cm by 51cm and can be hung either landscape or portrait. The mirror is in antique condition and is free from any cracks or chips - the surface of the glass is also smooth, but inside has foxing which many people (me included!!) find desirable as it really displays its age adding character as a period piece rather than a pristine reproduction. Please check out the photographs to make sure that the foxing is to your taste. Please do not hesitate if I can provide any further information or photographs. I offer free delivery across mainland UK, and am very happy to help with quotes for shipping abroad.
