Description

A handsome cased late Victorian or Edwardian compass with hinged lid, the little button on the top used to open; just like a pocket watch. The dial is lucky enough to have an English Design Registration Number (416645) which allows us to date the design to 1903. The case is made from brass with minor wear commensurate with age and use, professionally cleaned and polished. Excellent condition and in full working order measuring 3" x 2"x 5/8".
