Description

An unusual chip carved softwood 'tramp art' wall cabinet dating from the mid to late 19th century. It has intricate fret carved panels with a triangular pediment and lots of geometric carved detailing. It has a crude signature and date on a panel near the bottom which looks like it reads "J.Jay 18.8.1863". The front of the cabinet hinges open to reveal a small drawer on the inside with fret carved front panel and small turned ebonised knob. The interior has been lined in a faux woodgrain paper and there are some brass hooks where it has obviously once been used as a key cabinet. It is a very decorative piece and it is in good condition for its age. There are a few small knocks and marks around the outside, general signs of age and use and a couple of small chips and losses but no major damages and overall it displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Tracked UK Delivery £15
