Description

A Very Good Quality Mid 19th Century Victorian Burr Walnut Occasional Table, Having Superbly Figured Octagonal Top, With Profuse Marquetry Inlaid Decoration And Elegant Shaped Frieze, Raised Twisted, Turned Central Column Terminating On Moulded Tripod Legs. Very typical in style for the mid victorian era this attractive little table is better quality than most and has a real elegant feel to it. The elegance is further enhanced by the attractive inlaid decoration to the top, which has been extremely well executed and also by the unusual little shaped frieze underneath the top. The twisted stem is another attractive, unusual feature. Overall the condition is good and the table has clearly been well loved throughout it's life. Before being offered for sale it has been through our workshops for a clean and natural wax polish in the traditional fashion to ensure it is ready to be placed straight into the home. A useful little size this table could be used in a whole variety of different positions around the home, from being a useful little bedside table, to being a simple lamp table tucked away in the corner of the living room, or even as an additional prop in the home off...
