Description

A Pair of Early 19th Century Bronze and Sienna Marble Candelabra. With central rising leaf candle holders, sweeping to five rising arms, each holding a candle holder with rising leaf pans, over fluted bodies finished with a second leaf form pan. The undersides of the arms with classical leaf scrolled decoration, fanning out to folding leaf cup, raised on a leaf socle. The socles centre the folding leaf capitals of the outward and downward tapering columns, held within rising leaf collars and likewise concave and leaf banded socles. The columns standing on scrolled and classical anthemion decorated scrolled legs, finished with lions paw feet. The whole raised on triangular concave sided stepped plinths, capped with a leaf and flower rondel. The stepping to the plinths banded with spreading anthemion. The bronze with an excellent patination, and a good contrast to the Sienna marble. Date circa 1830. Height 23 inches, 59cm. Depth 9 1/2 inches, 24cm. Width 9 1/2 inches, 24cm.
