Description

A superb antique Edwardian metamorphic snooker billiards table /dining table by E.J.Riley Circa 1900 in date restored by the renowned billiards table makers Hamilton & Tucker. This table will stand out in your living room, can comfortably seat eight, and will definitely become a talking point. This impressive table is exemplary of the late Edwardian era, and is made from superb quality flame mahogany. This amazing dining table has a rise and fall mechanism snooker / billiards table and is raised on decorative turned legs. It features a precision ground Italian slate bed to guarantee a flat playing surface and is fitted with a dual-height rise and fall mechanism and levelling system to raise and lower the table easily between playing snooker and dining height. The dining table has five mahogany leaves that can easily be removed to reveal the snooker table. Genuine English moulded leather covers the pocket plates and the cotton bag net pockets can be hidden away when in the dining position. It comes complete with the original scoreboard, four cues, balls, two triangles, a wall mounting cue rack, a brush and a rest. This antique table is in superb condition an...
