Description

An interesting Congreve Rolling Ball Clock. Built to an early 19th Cent design this one was probably made later than 1960 and has been built to a good standard. It has a single fuse movement with three dials for seconds, minutes and hours. It is complete and in good condition but if required could do with a polish. It is running but is a bit of a challenge to set up but comes with a little spirit level to assist in setting up. These clocks are always difficult to regulate so should be treated as a novelty item rather than a time piece. It comes with a glazed brass dust cover. The dimensions below are for the outer case. Free local delivery (40mls), national and international courier delivery arranged at cost.
