Description

We are delighted to offer this endearing antique Edwardian 15ct gold brooch made c.1910. The brooch is designed in the form of a lily of the valley flower and features a wonderful naturalistic and intricate design. The curvature of each leaf with tapering seed pearls is a testament to the fine craftsmanship and artistry of this piece. The asymmetric design gives a life-like appearance and 'movement' to the overall aesthetics of the brooch and the four accenting pearls on each flower are a wonderful touch. Ideal with blouses, jackets or even coat lapels in the winter, this versatile and charming floral design allows for a wide range of coordination with your wardrobe and would most certainly elevate the overall appearance with distinguished classical elegance. The reverse side of the brooch features a safety clasp pin and is marked 15ct. Captivating and distinguished from contemporary pieces, this brooch would make a wonderful addition to any antique jewellery lover's collection and a conversation starter upon wearing. All of our jewellery comes with a complimentary hard shell gift box with a velvet interior. Size & Total Weight 5cm x 2.2 4.42g /0.142 tr...
