Description

A fine quality pair of Georgian brass candlesticks in the Neoclassical manner. The pair stand on square bases with tapered and fluted stems. There is some beautiful detail in the beaded edges to the top and base. The pair have a great balanced profile and stand elegantly. The extraordinary thing about the pair is that they retain the original sconces which are removable and therefore are so often misplaced. The two are in great original condition with no damage or breaks. A fine example of a later Georgian candlestick in exceptionally complete condition. C.1790. Overall sizes in inches: 3 ¾ square at the base. 9 ¾ high
