Description

A beautiful very pale and rare antique Ushak rug in lovely original condition, the palette of dyes used are extremely rare to find, more often Ushak or (Oushak's) were woven in larger sizes and in warmer colours. As this rug is from the late 19th century the dyes have faded and the abstract floral design is quite spectacular. With a golden yellow border and warm brick reds, it balances beautifully with the natural ivory/grey toned wool main background colour. The rug is original condition with no damage or issues to report, a rare and collectable decorative item. We offer the service of viewing any of our carpets & rugs in-situ in London, Surrey, Hampshire the UK & Europe by appointment.
