Description

A 1962 Longines Grand Prize Automatic wristwatch. A silvered dial with a 'sunburst' finish to the outer edges. The outer minute track surround has a two-step recess into the dial, with a mirror finish. Applied gilt hour markers of alternating design, with tonneau shaped quarter markers and extended markers to the rest. Signed 'Swiss' below 6 o'clock. A rather unusual feature on this watch is the central 10 minute markers surrounding a disc in the centre. Applied Longines logo below the date aperture at 12. The hours and minutes are indicated by a variation of 'Syringe' hands. A one-piece 10k gold filled case, signed to the inner 'Wittnauer', indicating the connection between Longines and their US brand. Case reference 69-308. Each of the lugs has a central champfering, a similar design to the bezel edge. The watch is powered by a 17 jewel caliber 340 Longines mechanism. The 11.8m serial numbers date the watch to 1962.
