Description

A classy table from a firm who designed and made the famous 'Jupe' radially extending circular dining table. Fully stamped to the underside with maker's details and number, which probably relates to a client of the firm. In the later decades of the 19th century Johnstone & Jeanes supplied furniture to Queen Victoria at Buckingham Palace. Unrestored country house condition. Surface fading, a few spots of historic worm (image 6) and lacking one finial, the frame is structurally sound and tight. I can have the table restored if required at a cost of £200.
