Description

A rare stunning Royal Worcester porcelain cabinet plate hand painted with a scene titled 'Brougham castle' by famous John Stinton (1854–1956) and dated 1915. The plate has a central scene of the castle set in a landscape within a decorative border with small floral vignettes hand painted around the edge and set within a cobalt ground with finely gilded decoration, the shaped rim with a gilded finish. The plate is signed by J. Stinton within the painted scene and bears the title 'Brougham Castle' painted to the base with puce printed Royal Worcester mark including a date code mark for 1915.

Brougham Castle is a huge part of England's history, was built by Robert de Vieuxpoint (Vipont) in the early 13th century. The castle was constructed on the site of the earlier Roman fort of Brocavum and sits on the banks of the River Eamont. With the outbreak of the Anglo-Scottish Wars in 1296, Brougham became an important military base and the castle's wooden defenses were replaced with stone walls and a large stone gatehouse. Such was the importance of Brougham that Edward I, Hammer of the Scots, visited in 1300. ...
