Description

This stunning Antique flat cut Garnet and Pearl mourning pin dates to the early 1800's and is set in 9ct Gold. The beautiful brooch features Natural Flat Cut Foil Back Garnets which were very popular during the Georgian era and are highly collectable today. Inside the Garnet halo, there is a second halo of original natural seed Pearls surrounding a glass casing containing fine plaited hair. Hair was often used in jewellery during the Georgian and Victorian pieces as a sign of remembering a loved one. The Garnets have a lovely play of colour with purples flashing through, and the Natural creamy Pearls complement them beautifully. Garnet is the birthstone for January and the stone that celebrates the 2nd anniversary of marriage. This is a stunning piece which would make a great addition to any collection.
