Description

Mahogany empire French commode with dark marble top, four drawers and stunning gilt metal adornments. -Sleek and timeless marble top with a dark colouration speckled with white throughout. A classic and timeless feature that marries nicely with the deep mahogany tones. -The frieze drawer features three inner sections, a handy addition which can be used for cutlery or small clothing items. -To the front at either side run circular columns with eye-catching adornments, a sophisticated design choice representative of the early French 19th century. -The adornments to the drawer fronts match the ones attached to the columns, with the handles stylistically opting for a nautical theme. Providing useful storage space alongside opulent design and luxurious elements. Good for bedrooms, lounges and other such living spaces. In very good condition with minor signs of age related wear such as small imperfections in the marble top edge and some staining to the inner drawers which does not distract from the overall look and feel of the item. Date: circa 1820, French Empire Material: Mahogany
