Description

A rare antique small cup with two handles and cover from Royal Crown Derby, with Pinxton Roses design. A charming Derby porcelain cup with cover, by end of 18th century. The cup is richly decorated with hand-painted flowers in pink, red, blue, and yellow, with jewellery precision and detailed drawing of miniature multi-colored insects. Special attention is paid to the painting and decoration with gold patterns all-round the diameter of the cup. The rich gilding of the lid with a gold handle and the handle of the cup itself is particularly notable. An extraordinary delicate cup. The artist has richly decorated it with delicate floral compositions. Magnificent gilding and use of gold paste for decoration. Delightful work of the master. The piece is polychrome painted and ornamentally gilded, colors are bright and vibrant. The paint is preserved completely; the gilding is good with some minor wear. Royal Crown Derby, founded in 1750, is the only one of the world's famous prestigious historic brands still manufactured in the UK. In 1775, George III allowed his crown to be inscribed on the factory's seal, a sign of recognition of quality. In 1890 Queen Victoria did the same. It is also...
