Description

A good English regency period mahogany bergère armchair, C.1810. Featuring reeded arms and top crest rail, raised on turned tapering forelegs terminating in original brass castors. With fitted traditionally upholstered deep-buttoned squab cushions, in a dark tan leather. Featuring a wonderful original colour and patina. Structurally sound, canework also sound with re-caned seat. Stamped 'IH' to the underside of the seat rail which relates to a number of Gillow's journeymen and recorded pieces of this period. See page 250 volume II of 'Susan E. Stuart's Gillows of Lancaster and London' for reference. Seat Height: 44cm (with cushion)
