Description

A beautiful golden oak Art Nouveau bookcase from the late 19th Century. Difficult to capture with the camera is the most stunning hand blown 'bubble' glass panes to the upper structure, rare to find and equally rare to survive undamaged. The uppermost cornice oversails in the centre and is supported by two brackets. The two drawer base has nicely carved detail to the two cupboard doors absolutely typical of the Art Nouveau designs of the day. All the handles are original and all locks have working keys. Super piece in super condition. Splits into two for easier transportation.
