Description

Technical Description An excellent 18th century glass tumbler dating to c1760. Tapered form with a snapped pontil. A really nice plain example and would work well with a good few measures of Scottish Whisky. Out of all the 18th century glass forms, you will find that specifically tumblers from that period are almost always decorated in some way...moulding, engraving, enamelled, gilded or a combination. Its actually quite rare to find a 'plain' example, which personally I like. Date & Origin England or Scotland, c1760. Period of George III. Condition Excellent, age-related wear as shown. No chips cracks or restoration. Dimensions Height: 12.7cm Rim diameter: 9.7cm Base diameter: 7.2cm. Historical Context On Oct 25 1760, George III succeeds to the throne as King of Great Britain and Ireland. He was the first Georgian King to be born in England and use English as his first language.
