Description

This large German porcelain centerpiece bowl by Von Schierholz is decorated with figures of four cherubs and adorned with moulded floral garlands of roses and multicolored primroses. Featuring fine polychrome, underglaze painting, and gilding, this handmade and hand-painted piece from the early part of the last century is sure to impress. This serving piece is a true work of art, perfect for display in any room. This type of compote bowl is ideal for serving various food items and making the dining experience more elegant. The cherub motif is a classic design that adds a touch of fantasy to the piece. The Von Schierholz porcelain factory was established in 1817 in Plaue, Thuringia, Germany, by two brothers, Johann Karl Rudolf Heuäcker and Dr. Gottlob Ferdinand Heuäcker. An exclusive license to produce porcelain wares was issued to Schierholz by the government of Schwarzburg-Sonderhausen, which ruled the town of Plaue. The factory produced high-quality Dresden ware and is most famous for its Rococo, ornate, and Secession-style decorated porcelain. These pieces featured gilding, applied foliage, and flowers. Additionally, the company produced luxury wares, including table s...
