Description

A wonderful Georgian oak and elm two door cupboard; the stepped cornice above a pair of glazed and fielded panelled doors which open to reveal fixed shelves, with fielded panel doors below and raised on a plinth base. Unusually this cupboard has panelled ends. Circa: 1790 This Georgian cupboard would transform a kitchen or scullery. The cupboard has a wonderful sense of colour with its beautifully fielded panels and slightly bituminised finish to the oak. Inside the cupboard is plenty of storage for plates, bowls, mugs etc.
