Description

This Medieval Bronze Signet Ring features a timeless design that captures the essence of medieval symbolism. The ring boasts a lozenge-shaped face, a distinctive choice that sets it apart from more traditional round or oval signets. At the centre of this angular canvas is a simple yet captivating star engraving, a symbol that has held various meanings throughout history, from guidance to divine protection. The bronze material lends the piece an earthy warmth, complementing the star's symbolic light. This minimalist design reflects the medieval period's fascination with the cosmos and the belief in the power of symbols to convey identity, protection, and guidance. A true artifact of its time, this ring offers a glimpse into the medieval mindset and aesthetic values. A part of our medieval jewellery collection.
