Description

This intriguing old pine table, dating from the 1920s, features a small drawer on one of the longer sides, slightly tapered legs, and a low stretcher connecting the legs. Originally painted, it was stripped and waxed some time ago and could benefit from a clean-up and re-waxing. You can purchase it as it is for £300 or have it restored and re-waxed for £387. Please note: the floor-to-undertable clearance is just under 23", which may not be ideal for sitting, though the overhang provides some extra room. Feel free to contact us if you have any concerns.
