Description

This vintage cocktail ring is simply stunning, with a large cushion-shaped synthetic sapphire in a tiered setting. The substantial setting is oblong in shape with curved edges and three tiers giving great elevation and depth to the ring and presenting the gem superbly. The gemstone has an AnchorCert certifying that it has been tested and confirmed as a synthetic corundum, variety: orange sapphire, and estimates its weight as 7.73 carats. The stone has a great colour - deep orange with flashes of golds and green firing out from the faceted surface. The ring is marked 585 indicating 14 ct. gold and there is a makers mark in the shape of a daisy or flower, which may be Scandinavian but we cannot identify it with certainty. An exceptional ring that makes a bold and beautiful statement. Period: c. 1950's Ring size N. Setting dimensions 1.7 x 1.6 cm x 0.8cm deep. Width at base of band 2 mm Weight 5.47 grams. All weights and measurements are approximate.
