Description

Georgian Oak Chest of Drawers - Crossbanded Upper - c1800 An unusual and interesting large Georgian chest of drawers in oak. The piece is substantially constructed and in great condition. Rising upon bracket feet the chest rises with three full width lower drawers and a twin pair to the upper. To the side the chest displays wonderful carved corinthian quarter columns which add to soften the look and are an indication of the quality of the piece. Further signs of the unusual and interesting detailing of the chest are evident in the magnificent top surface which shows fantastic oak grain and patination. This is trimmed with oak and then vertically crossbanded at the perimeter edge with mahogany. Overall a very desirable Georgian chest in fine order that catches the eye and will perform as a hugely practical item of furniture.
