Description

An early c.19th Baroque style, gilt flared frame with later mirror. This old picture frame is adorned by scroll, shells, and flower head details. Gilt plaster moulded to the wooden frame. Now with later bevelled edge mirror and modern border. The reverse of the frame has hanging loops to hang in the landscape position, though the frame could be hung in the portrait position. Now overpainted, with some losses to the plaster moulding and gilt details, this still remains a very charming frame and oozes character. Ideal frame to reframe an old or even modern picture, to refit with a new or old mirror, or even give a funky twist to a blackboard. Dimensions: This frame measures approximately 93 cm (36.5") tall, 137.5 cm (54") wide, and 11 cm (4.5") deep. The mirror measures 104.25 cm (41") by 59 cm (23.25"), not including the modern border. Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This frame is in a fair condition, commensurate with its age, and is structurally sound. There are losses to plaster moulding and some of the gilt finish, see pictures. There is a later mirror, and the border around the mirror is modern. Both of these can be easil...
