Description

This is an exceptional 19th Century Welsh Oak Housekeeper's Cupboard, also known as a Linen Press, with a rich history, having remained in the same West Wales family for several generations. The piece is crowned by an elegant classical cornice, leading to panelled doors that reveal spacious enclosed shelves. One door features a thumb latch bolt, while the other is secured by a working lock and key. The cupboard's corners are a standout feature, beautifully chamfered and adorned with split bobbin detail. The lower section offers ample storage with three short, two medium, and one long drawer, all graduated in size and fitted with the original turned knobs. The entire piece stands gracefully on charming bun feet. The oak displays a stunning wood grain and a mellow, time-worn patina that is truly unique. This versatile piece would be a perfect addition to any kitchen, lounge, bedroom, or boot room. It would also make a striking statement in a retail or hospitality setting. Condition: The cupboard is in very good condition, with wear consistent with its age. There is a historical shrinkage crack on the lower left-hand side of the cabinet, and a small section of beading is ...
