Description

A fine example of a late eighteenth century creamware tankard. The piece is of a small size and simple both in design and decoration. The body is of straight cylinder form with a reeded handle. The enamel colour decoration is of floral sprays and sprigs painted quickly and confidently in a manner not dissimilar to decoration on delftware. The piece was probably made in Yorkshire and dates to C.1780. The condition is excellent with the only fault being a very slight rim chip. Overall sizes in inches: 4 ½ wide 3 deep 4 ¾ high
