Description

Late C19th French walnut , satinwood , rosewood, tulipwood , amaranth and kingwood marble-topped commode of Louis XV period transitional design . Raised on shaped cabriole-type fore-legs fitted with gilt 'sabot' terminals , the three-drawer marquetry inlaid and cross-banded canted-corner commode chest with elaborate cast and pierced gilt-metal mounts, escutcheons and handles . A shallow top drawer over two deeper 'sans traverse' drawers fitted with circular ring handles and back-plates , all drawers having oak linings . The striking 'Breche D'Alep' marble top having a shaped outline with a bevelled edge. Inlaid to the sides with corresponding kingwood, satinwood and fruitwood marquetry designs , cross-banding and quarter-veneered panels. The verso with oak panelled backboards. In excellent original condition, with a pleasing mellow period-style patina and surface. H 32" W 32" D 16" France c.1890
